

Damage Allowed to Man Idled by Union Pickets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld a $10,000 damage award won from the United Automobile Workers in an Alabama state court by an electrician who said excessive union picketing prevented him from working.

Justice Burton delivered the 6-2 decision which establishes the principle that federal labor law does not exclude such state court actions.

Chief Justice Warren said in a dissent that the majority decision could open the way for staggering punitive damages making it too risky for unions to engage in some activities protected by the federal law.

Justice Douglas joined in Warren's dissent. Justice Black took no part.

The electrician, Paul S. Russell, complained picketing prevented him from entering the plant of the Calumet & Hecla, Consolidated Copper Co., in Decatur, Ala., from July 18, 1951, to Aug. 22, 1951.

The union, which had been certified by the National Labor Relations Board as representative of employees of the firm, called a strike on July 18, 1951.

Russell earned slightly more than $100 a week at the time. He sued the union for $50,000 and a jury awarded him $10,000. His complaint charged mass picketing, intimidation, stopping of his car and threats to turn it over, and property damage. The plant resumed operation Aug. 22, 1951, with state highway patrolmen on hand. Russell returned to work that day.

Burton's majority opinion said the union activity in the Calumet and Hecla case "clearly was not protected by federal law." Indeed, he said, the strike was conducted in such a manner that it could

Governor Faubus Loses Help of Labor Group Which Helped Elect Him Two Years Ago

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus has lost the support of a powerful labor group which helped re-elect him two years ago.

The Arkansas Federation of Labor Councils' committee on political education passed a resolution Saturday stating that the governor had forfeited labor's support by his actions against working people.

The committee declined to endorse any of the other candidates, however, although its screening group had recommended endorsement of Chris Pikelmeier, Little Rock packing company executive.

Odell Smith, council president, said the full committee considered the recommendation favoring Pikelmeier but decided against endorsing any candidate at this time.

Smith said the committee might meet again before the July 20 Democratic primary, however.

Basile Pikelmeier, Judge Leo Ward of Paragould, and Robert J. Brown of Little Rock are seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Henry Woods of Little Rock, attorney for the labor group, said the political education committee favored those measures which may appear on the November general election ballot.

Sprinkler System Douses Conway Fire

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — A plant-wide sprinkling system doused a fire yesterday which broke out at the Alreo company here—manufacturer of school furniture.

Plant Supt. James J. Kane said he could not estimate damage from fire and water immediately but that the plant's 260 employees would report for work today.

Kane said the flames apparently were touched off by faulty wiring in the lacquer room, where the fire was confined. Firemen said the sprinklers had put out the blaze by the time they reached the big, concrete plant.

Ford Refuses Any New Offer to the Union

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is not thinking of making any new offers at this time to the United Auto Workers Union, John S. Bugas, Ford's vice president for industrial relations, told newsmen.

No major break appeared in sight as the deadlocked contract negotiations in the auto industry entered showdown week.

The Big Three are standing pat on proposals to extend for two years the wage formula of the present contracts.

Apparently the companies are waiting for UAW President Walter P. Reuther to specify in more exact figures just how much the unions are willing to scale down its wage and fringe benefit demands.

Unless new contracts are agreed upon this week, some 500,000 Ford, General Motors and Chrysler hourly employees will face the unprecedented situation of working without a contract. They have been ordered by Reuther to do so in event contracts expire without a settlement.

Police Report Theft, Arrest House Burglar

City Police over the weekend reported theft of a fire and wheel, investigated a fire and arrested a burglar.

Officers said Charley Lee Howard, 20-year-old Negro, had admitted to breaking into the homes of Dorothy Jean Watkins, Lillie Key and Jessie Thompson. He was turned over to the Sheriff's office for formal charge and prosecution.

A fire and wheel was stolen from an auto owned by Johnny Beard City Officers reported. The car was parked on a used car lot at Third and Elm.

Friday night officers investigated a fire in the Diamond Cafe kitchen where some grease on a stove had blown up. Officers summoned the Fire Department. Very little damage resulted.

Girl Injured by Falling Sandbag

A Hope girl, Donna Freeman, was injured early today in a freak accident in front of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. where workers are engaged in leveling up the building.

Reportedly a bag of sand on the back of a drag line fell off and struck Miss Freeman as she walked past. She was taken to Branch Hospital where she works for treatment of an injured foot and shoulder.

Although examination hasn't been completed it is not believed that she is critically hurt, a hospital attendant said.

She was taken to the hospital by a Herndon-Cornelius ambulance.

Gas Tax Issue Up in Louisiana

BAVON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Rep. E. C. Frenaux planned a move today to cut in half two measures to triple the one cent natural gas gathering tax.

But Rep. Ben Holt, author of the tax bill favored by Gov. Earl Long, said "I predict both bills will come out of the ways and means committee unchanged."

Both are designed to head off a threatened teacher pay cut next fall. Gov. Earl Long's budget committee left out of the new budget money now being paid from surplus for a pay raise.

Farm work in the Bradley area and throughout Arkansas is opening daily. All applicants for employment and claimants for Unemployment Insurance with farm backgrounds are being interviewed regarding farm employment according to Teddy Jones, Manager, Employment Security Division.

Jones indicated that this special survey would be continued for two or three weeks. In keeping with a state policy established by J. L. Bland, Administrator, he indicated that "the Arkansas Employment Security Division wants every person in Arkansas to know that agricultural work is available and to give each person an opportunity to accept this type work."

Cotton chopping will increase daily in Lafayette county with continued fair weather and trucks will commute from Hope, Lewisville, and other points established by the Hope Employment Office. Crews can be sent to Eastern Arkansas to chop cotton for the next several weeks.

Hempstead County chopping is expected to begin about June 10. This will be followed by agricultural work in the Nashville Peach Harvest. With completion of the peach harvest agricultural workers can be sent to the Wisconsin pea harvest or the Michigan, Ohio, Indiana tomato harvest.

Commenting on the general employment situation Jones indicated that there was no great difference in the number of unemployed in the Hempstead, Lafayette, Howard and Nevada County area this year over last year. In the four county area 2250 claims have been filed during 1958 compared to 1652 during 1957.

This increase is attributable to seasonal lay offs due to rains which curtailed the lumber industry more than to the general economic situation he said. Mill repairs at Oxen Lumber Company, Prescott, and slow downs in furniture plants in the Stamps area and basket and woodworking plants in the Hope and Nashville areas account for the slight increase according to the Hope office records.

Kept Body of Baby in Truck for 11 Years

NEW BOSTON, Tex. (AP)—A former Army nurse was held for murder today in the death of a baby whose body was said to have been kept in a trunk for 11 years.

Sheriff W. J. Wallington of neighboring Tarrant County, Tex., lodged a murder charge late Sunday against Auburn-haired Mrs. Rosa Powers, 46.

The sheriff quoted the tall, comely nurse as telling officers she bore the child illegitimately 11 years ago while living alone in a house trailer near Augusta, Ga.

He said her only explanation for keeping the body was "I just couldn't bear to get rid of it."

Wallington said her husband Elburn Powers, 42, called officers after discovering the body in his wife's steel foot locker Saturday night.

"She was charged with murder because she had a dead body in her possession and no satisfactory explanation as far as we were concerned," the sheriff told newsmen.

He said the partly decomposed body was packed amid clothing with a preservative powder. A physician told investigators, however, that he could not determine the cause of death nor the sex of the baby.

Wallington said Mrs. Powers came here from Nashville, Tenn., three weeks ago to work as a registered nurse in the county hospital of this northeast Texas town.

Authorities at Vanderbilt Hospital, where she had been working, recommended her highly the sheriff reported.

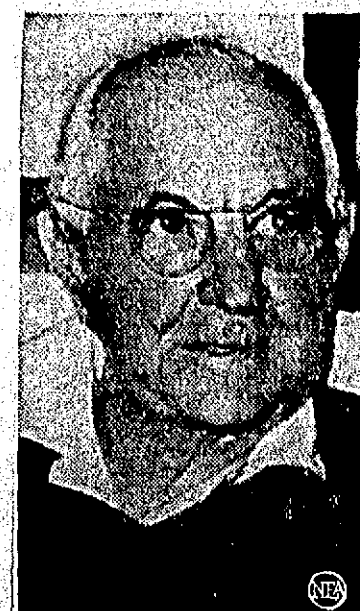

He said Mrs. Powers gave vague answers to investigators' questions and had only an indirect reply when he asked whether the baby was stillborn or she killed it.

Tally of Votes Has Begun in Italy

ROME (AP) — Election officials began counting more than 30 million ballots today immediately after the end of a day and a half of voting for Italy's third postwar Parliament. The turnout appeared to be more than 90 percent of the 32,500,417 registered voters.

Final results of the balloting, which was orderly throughout, are expected Tuesday.

DeGaulle Drive Spreads During Worst Crisis

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Pflimlin today warned an emergency session of Parliament that a civil war is threatening and called on all Frenchmen to defend their basic liberties.

The embattled Premier went before the Assembly as the rightist drive to boost Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power spread through the overcast capital. France's worst postwar crisis was darkening hourly.

Insurgents in Algeria and Corsica claimed new successes. They boasted their crusade to put De Gaulle at the helm had spread to French Equatorial and West Africa, and New Caledonia and Tahiti in the Pacific.

Rebelling fighting between French and Tunisian forces in southern Tunisia posed a grim problem. The government, in an effort to avert a Tunisian complaint to the Security Council, reportedly agreed to withdraw all French troops to the north coast area around the Bizerte naval base. But there was no assurance the military would honor the order.

In France the giant Communist-led Confederation of Labor called on its members working in government arsenals to "meet immediately to plan counteraction against the fascist aggression." This raised the possibility the workers would try to seize arms. Rightist mobs took to the streets in support of De Gaulle.

Friends of De Gaulle reported he would come to Paris tonight, and there were unconfirmed rumors that a meeting had been arranged between him and Pflimlin.

Previously De Gaulle was cool to an overture that he mediate between the government and the insurgents in Algeria, but his friends said the general within 48 hours would issue a declaration deploring the insurrection in Corsica. They added he would say once again that he is available to lead the government.

NAACP Files Case Before High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Opposing attorneys argued before the Arkansas Supreme Court today the question of whether the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People should be required to produce its confidential records in connection with a suit against it by Y. Gen. Bruce Bennett.

Attorneys for the NAACP contend the constitutional rights of the association, its officers and members were violated by an order of Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed which would require a list of members, records of financial transactions and other documents being made available to Bennett.

This was denied by lawyers for the attorney general's office. "The case grew out of a suit of Bennett to require the NAACP to pay allegedly back due franchise taxes."

Bennett contended examination of the organization's records was necessary and Reed upheld him. By agreement attorneys appeared only on the order relating to furnishing of the records.

As is customary the Supreme Court gave no indication what it may hand down an opinion.

Japanese Artist Presented at Flower Arranging Clinic

The Hope Business and Professional Women's Club presented Takeshi Kondo, a noted Japanese artist, in a flower arranging clinic May 19 in the County Courthouse.

Takeshi's background is as interesting to know as well as his talents; everyone found him to be a delightful personality, and his presentations of design proved his capabilities. He worked on the three basic forms which in his country are always used. Using local flowers and boughs plus other flowers, he designed in the classifications, Shinto Gyo and So. These arrangements were given as door prizes.

Takeshi Kondo is a student at Henderson College in Arkadelphia where he is a Junior. He is studying dramatics, art, voice and American Literature. Before coming to this country last fall he graduated from Matsuyama College of English and taught for some time while in this school. His father founded a college of Floral design forty years ago, and is the Principal there. As is the custom in Japan, Takeshi will follow in his father's profession as a side line. His main objective is to teach Dramatics and English in Japan. His mother is connected with the college at Matsuyama as well as his sister. The former teaches the formalities of serving tea also. All Japanese girls are requested to be versed in tea service and flower arranging before marriage.

Takeshi will teach designing this summer in San Francisco and also serve as an interpreter for the Government officials in translating Japanese language into English. Proceeds from this clinic were given to the treasury of the Youth Center.

"N. C." Means No Cash After a Date With Her

Dear Dorothy Dix: I take my girl to night clubs but instead of concentrating her attention on me, she flirts with other men. I'm madly in love with her but don't think she's in love with me. She says she loves me but I find it hard to believe her.

N. C. Dear N. C.: What was your first clue? The girl likes attention, expensive entertainment and, as long as you are willing and able to provide both, she'll let you escort her to the glamorous night spots. I don't think she's in love, but then I don't think you are either.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I belong to a correspondence club for people who are looking for mates. In the past year I've written about 100 letters to ladies and have received just three answers. All said "NO." Is there something wrong with the way I write letters? JOHN

Dear John: Your letters are all right, I guess. The girls are just not taking you seriously. This is about the worst way to look for a wife. I bet you wouldn't select a horse or a cow by mail. Why then a wife? You live in a fair sized community. I am dead sure there is at least one eligible girl for you on home grounds. Look for her at church gatherings, club dances, and other social activities.

Dear Dorothy Dix: This is a serious problem. We're a group of teen-age girls who are frequently along when our boy friends call. I've tried to handle the situation by sitting in front of an uncurtained window so no gossip could start from nosy neighbors.

Dear D. D. L.: A girl with a sensible head, firmly set on her pretty shoulders, that's you. Avoid the situation as much as possible; keep the shades up and (now that the weather is so balmy) the windows up and gossip can't possibly get a foothold.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a small motel and almost every morning I find one, two or three pennies on the table. This isn't enough for a tip and I wonder if it has any special meaning?

Wide World to Feature a Western

By VERNON SCOTT
UNITED PRESS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television has lost a one-shot Western to end all Westerns next month when the highly "Wide World" focuses its 90 minutes on the blazing-gun history of Western entertainment.

Pulp magazines, old movies, "modern Westerns" and TV series will be scrutinized, explained and extolled by cowboy stars from Bronco Billy Anderson (the first horse opera hero) to video now-comers James Garner and Jim Arness.

In charge of this stampeding winding is natty Ted Rogers, NBC producer who could only play a role in a hell-for-leather Western.

"There will be a minimum of brilliant Eastern sophistication," he assures us. "Only shots from the east will be of Dave Garroway. We hope to place the Western in its proper position—as an art form."

Will Describe Development
"In addition to introducing great Western stars, we will try to tell the present the revolution of the traditional Western story."

Film clips from old movies—showing such milestones as the first jump from a stage coach to horse, the biggest Indian massacre—will occupy 20 minutes of the program.

Narration and demonstrations of out opera lore will be handled by Roy Rogers, Gene Autry, John Wayne, Gary Cooper and Hugh O'Brian.

Oldtimers will thrill once again watching Tom Mix, Ken Maynard, Hoot Gibson and William S. Hart go through their paces on scraps of film salvaged from dusty vaults.

"The United States is the only place where the Western is not taken seriously," Rogers said. "Europe and Asia consider Westerns a high art form. Gene Autry is the biggest star in Sweden and Japan today. Our first movie, 'The Great Train Robbery' was a Western."

Will Examine Trends
"We'll also investigate Western trends down through the years—sex, violence, brutality and the advent of sound. For instance, during World War II Westerns were extremely brutal. Sex was introduced in 'Duel in the Sun.' Recently 'adult' Westerns have taken over."

John Wayne tells me actors dislike psychologists. Westerns because they corrupt the original intention of horse operas.

"Since I began work on this show I've discovered that Western stars are a cut above other actors. They love what they're doing, and they believe in their work."

John Ford, who has directed some great Westerns, will be on the program, too. He was a cowpuncher before he came to Hollywood.

Rogers said sage brush sagas are the only true folk-lore in America.

"The cowboy as a symbol is only 100 years old," he concluded. "And from the look of next fall's TV programming, Westerns will be with us for a long time to come."

Tragedy Strikes Boys Helping Their Father

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Five-year-old boys, 4 and 3, and their brother, Kent, 7, were having a great time Sunday helping their father work in the garden.

Kayven leaped forward to pick up his shovel just as Kent was losing a shovelful of sand to one side. Kent's shovel hit his brother on the head but there was no apparent injury, not even a cut.

But, three hours later, Kayven complained of a headache. He became unconscious and a police ambulance rushed him to a hospital. Surgery was performed in an attempt to stop bleeding in the brain.

It was too late. Kayven died at 11:15 p.m.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Quinn.

The population of the town is 700, and a city, Central Falls, just over a mile square, with more than 25,000 inhabitants.

Lowell Thomas Seems to Go on Forever

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A hardy voyager has just stumbled out of the archival jungle of the Lowell Thomas office with word that by June 3 the CBS radio reporter will have made his 15,000th broadcast.

While programs come and go, die and are revived, switch times and change their formats, Lowell Thomas and the News has had the longest continuous run of any news program in radio and is still going strong. Its position in the broadcast schedule, never has varied since June 1932.

It's safe to say that Thomas has been heard more frequently by more Americans in the last three decades than any other man. He still makes two broadcasts a night, his second being beamed to the West Coast. Besides his role on radio he has been widely heard as a lecturer and as narrator for Cinerama, dozens of short films, and for 17 years as the voice of Fox Movietone news.

It's equally safe to say that he has broadcast from more unusual and obscure places than any commentator: from a plane circling the Empire State Building, in the first broadcast from a helicopter, a bobbed, a— you name it. In the course of these broadcasts Thomas estimates he has traveled five million miles by every conceivable means of transportation.

Thomas was well established as a writer and lecturer when he first faced a microphone in 1930 as the replacement of Floyd Gibbons, last but not least of the "I was there, myself, in person" type of foreign correspondent.

News broadcasting in 1930 was largely unexplored territory. Gibbons had been the only commentator on the air and there were widely divergent notions as to just how it should be done.

Thomas's first broadcast followed a nine-hour "hot it should be done" session. Then Thomas went on the air and broadcast in his own way — the way he's been doing it ever since: from just about everywhere, including Lhasa, the forbidden city of Tibet.

Asked for a list of the most memorable broadcasts during his years in radio, he names none of his own. Rather he cites these:

Churchill's famous "Blood, Sweat and Tears" speech; President Roosevelt's Declaration of War message to Congress; MacArthur's "I Shall Return" speech; Ed Murrow's "Orchestra Hell" broadcast on the bombing of Berlin; Charles Collingwood's description of the Nazi surrender; President Eisenhower's first acceptance speech in Chicago; Alben Barkley's last speech before his death; Dr. Jonas Salk's radio announcement of his polio vaccine; Doug Edwards' description of the sinking of the Andrea Doria; Moscow radio's announcement of the first earth satellite.

Farm Freeze Veto Accepted as Final

By EDWIN HAACKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Apparently accepting as final President Eisenhower's two-month-old veto of a price support freeze, the Senate Agriculture Committee starts work today on a new approach to farm legislation.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) asked leaders of two large farm organizations to open the two weeks of hearings at which the committee will try to develop a workable program.

Eisenhower vetoed on March 31 a bill which would have fixed support prices on major crops at not less than their levels last year. Acreage restrictions also would have been held up to this year's levels. He called such action ill-advised both for farmers and for the nation.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) asked senators to give a careful review to the Eisenhower veto before deciding whether to try to override or start anew.

Ellender's moves indicate the Senate will not attempt to upset the veto. This would require a two-thirds vote, a larger margin than the 48-32 margin that sent the farm freeze to the White House.

Numerous proposals are pending before the committee, but there were no firm indications what type of measure may emerge.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), ranking Republican on the committee, said there is a good chance for congressional agreement if a new farm bill is restricted to cotton, rice, and corn, and other live-stock feed grains.

"If we try to load it down with other crops and various farm program plans then we will be in trouble and probably get nothing," he said.

Aiken said the main theme for altering cotton and rice programs is to allow domestic growers to produce more in order to retain export markets developed in recent years.

Aiken said corn and other feed grains present a special problem now because few farmers have been complying with government controls. Huge surpluses are threatening.

TOUGH ACT TO FOLLOW—
Mrs. Rudd Brown, granddaughter of the silver-tongued orator William Jennings Bryan, says she will run for Congress despite the fact that public speaking "scars the daylight out of me." Mrs. Brown, who was only four years old when her famous grandfather died, is a Democratic candidate for Congress from California.

Negro to Trial on Murder Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Officers said today that a Negro known as "Three Card Monte," whose antics in cell and court room have caused them trouble several times, will be brought here from Tucker Prison to stand trial on a murder charge tomorrow.

The 35-year-old Negro also goes by the name of Percy Seward.

Sheriff Tom Guley said the man had been on a 10-day hunger strike at the penitentiary. He was taken there from Pulaski County Jail about two weeks ago after he created several uprisings in his cell.

In two previous appearances before Pulaski Circuit Judge William J. Kirby, the Negro has shouted, screamed and kicked. Officers said he was found sane in a 60-day mental examination at the State Hospital.

He is charged with murder in the fatal shooting of a Little Rock Negro man earlier this year.

CHAPTER 19

"Tell me, Luis," I said, "why do you work for Carnicero? Are you so fond of the government?"

"Money," he said simply. "Don Dinero. And one day I shall go to the United States and live beneath a tree."

"How much do they pay you for your little services? In dollars."

"Fifty dollars every month," he said proudly. "That is in addition to what I earn driving. I am saving all of it for the day when I can go to the United States."

"I suppose that also covers a multitude of sins," I said dryly. "Does that price include special services like the little accident you were going to arrange?"

"Oh, no. I was to receive a bonus of $200."

"You would also have lost your car and $200 won't buy another."

"The truth, Don Milo," he said, shrugging, "is that this is not my car. My car is a much older one, but when they wish to send me as a driver to wealthy foreigners they permit me to use this one."

"Luis," I said, "how would you like to work for me?"

He glanced at me. "But working for you, Don Milo, while working for Carnicero would be dangerous. To quit him to work for you would be even more dangerous."

"Carnicero pays you $50 a month. I will pay you that much every two days. Twenty-five dollars a day."

"You must be rich," he exclaimed. "Or the sun has beaten too strongly on your head. How would you pay me this great amount?"

"At the end of each day," I said, "I will give you $25 in addition to what I pay for you and your car."

"I must be a fool for listening to you. What would I have to do for this money?"

"Nothing at the present. You can still report to Carnicero what I do each day. Perhaps some day I will not want you to report every single thing I do, but there will be plenty you can report."

"And later?" he asked, softly.

"I don't know. There are probably many ways you can help me. But you will not have to arrange any little accidents. If they become necessary, I'll arrange them myself. Then I'll know they don't fail."

He sighed. "I am a fool and the son of a fool—but how does a man refuse so much wealth? I will work for you, Don Milo. And probably lose my head."

"You would now lose it quicker by not working for me. This way you will also have $25 each day."

"With that I can buy a new head," he said.

"When a man likes money," I said, "it might occur to him to go to his first employer and say that he has been offered more money by another so that he will gain a promotion. Should such an idea occur to you, flee from it as you would from the devil himself. I think that it might make Carnicero regard you as something less than a brother and it would not increase your value in my eyes. In fact, I wouldn't be surprised if it became a question of who could get to you first—Carnicero or me."

He sighed. "I am a fool and greatly, Don Milo. I am but a poor taxi driver, but I know better than to tell Carnicero that you even talked to me about anything but old houses."

I had no illusions about Luis. Anything he could turn to his own advantage, he would. But he was smart as well as dishonest and it would be much safer playing along with me than if he tried to double-cross me.

I went out that night with Juana. As soon as I found she had no information for me, I did not even try to talk about the case. I took her home about midnight. There was a detective who followed us almost everywhere. Luis was at the hotel early the following morning and we took off for the country again. We visited six old houses and looked at hundreds of antiques. I was bored by it.

"Don Milo," Luis said, "if you are looking for the old things, why bother? We could drive out into the hills where it is beautiful and just rest until time to return to the hotel. I could still describe what was supposedly had seen. Never in my life did I know so many people kept so many useless things."

"It wouldn't do, Luis," I told him. "Carnicero may not completely trust you; I doubt if he would trust his own mother. So they may have someone else checking up. Besides, these people will also talk about the crazy North American who comes and looks at all their old junk and shakes his head and goes away. The talk should get back to the police and help to convince them. Or confuse them."

He looked at me shrewdly. "Don Milo, is it that you look for someone named Moreno?"

"Why?" I asked.

"Things I have heard in the police chief's office made me think this is so. As you said, it is better if I do not know this, but I wondered."

"And why did you wonder?"

"If it is true," he said, "then I wish to tell you that the man named Moreno is dead."

"How do you know?"

"My mother's cousin," he said, "has a son who works on the burial detail in the prison of Santa Monica. He says they were called out at three in the morning not long ago to bury a prisoner and he swears it was Moreno."

It takes a GIANT to move people

In the world of flying it takes a giant to move masses of people fast. In the world of selling, too, it takes a giant to move the people... a giant who lives in every town, the daily newspaper.

This giant not only lives in every town, but in practically every home—every day. And in the home the newspaper remains to be read, put down, picked up and read again, so that it's no trouble at all for a newspaper advertiser to make a local call every day. Daily newspaper circulation is at a new high—over 56,000,000.

Many of the ads in the paper will end up in a purse or a pocket because people habitually use the newspaper as a shopping guide. That's why advertisers—local, regional and national—spend more money in daily newspapers than they do in radio, television, magazines and outdoor combined.

To move a multitude of goods, you must move multitudes of people to action. Use "action" advertising. Use the daily newspaper.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.
